

Correction to “Stereotyping and evaluation in implicit race bias: Evidence for independent constructs and unique effects on behavior”

In the article, “Stereotyping and evaluation in implicit race bias: Evidence for independent constructs and unique effects on behavior,” by David M. Amodio and Patricia G. Devine (Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, 2006, 91, 652-661), the reported sign of a statistical coefficient was reversed, due to a transcription error, and should read: $\beta = .32$, $t(28) = 1.79$, $p = .08$, $sr = .32$ (p. 656). All other effects were replicated in reanalysis, and the main results and theoretical conclusions of the article remain unchanged. More information, including an analysis replication report, datasets, and analysis scripts, may be found at <https://osf.io/3chzy/>.